general contractors & construction managers

April 10, 2018

To Whom It May Concern,

During my tenure as an engineer involved in the Aerospace division within our company, I have had the pleasure of working alongside Resource Environmental on every opportunity we've been afforded. Resource has shown the utmost level of professionalism, thoroughness and reliability, making them our preferred demolition and abatement subcontractor. With their help, together, we have been able to overcome project specific obstacles and challenges on a real-time basis. This has generated a sense of assurance and reliance from the major Aerospace companies within Southern California that now consider Resource Environmental a go-to source for knowledge and execution on how to properly prepare a site for new construction.

Their knowledge in lead & asbestos abatement is among the best quality you will find in the industry. With their cooperative workforce and management, this has made them a definitive member of the Pacific National Group team. Competence such as theirs, within their trade, is a rarity that is difficult to come by and an asset that can be appreciated by anyone that has the pleasure of working alongside them. We assiduously stand by them when it comes to the merit of their abilities, and recommend them to anyone who wants to see this type of work performed by professionals who care.

Sincerely,

Glenn Flood
